

Wouter van Joolingen

Prof. Dr. Wouter van Joolingen is scientific director of the Freudenthal Institute, therefore responsible for the research in Math and Science Education that the institute performs. One of his main interests is the use of modern technology in education, such as simulations, modelling tools, creation tools. Especially the use of drawing tools as a stepping stone for modelling is a key issue in his research.

<http://www.uu.nl/medewerkers/WRvanJoolingen>

